

Next Steps Puerto Rico

Monthly Report #1

We arrived on the field one month from yesterday and already so much has taken place. From three weeks of training. From not only the missionaries here in Puerto Rico but from other places knowledge has been poured into us. Knowledge to help better the Kingdom of God and our walk as we walk with Him. The first three weeks were very eventful. From daily classes Monday through Friday to doing outreach and evangelism on weekends. From Pentecost Sunday where several received the Holy Ghost and one was baptized. After the three weeks of training we moved to Ponce on the other side of the island to start our five week journey. This past weekend we just finished up “Noche De Fuego” in Lajas where several from the community came. Praise and worship was very present and the altar call was amazing. Serval guest came forth and received something great. The previous days we spent praying and evangelizing in the neighborhoods to prepare for the event. The local church in Lajas was so welcoming and giving. We prayed God would move, and that’s exactly what He did and more. The previous Sunday in the AM we ministered at a church about one hour away. We sang, testified and taught the lesson. In the PM we ministered at a small church where the Holy Ghost broke out and serval backsliders prayed back through. God is moving in Puerto Rico and I am so glad I am here to be apart of it. I am excited of what is in store for these next couple of weeks.

God Bless,

Abigail Buchberger
